"The Bat" will descend on Wartburg next week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning promptly at 8 p.m. in the little Theater. "The Bat" is a stage adaptation of Mary Robert Rinehart's "The Circular Staircase," to be presented as the latest production of Wartburg Players.

Playing the leading role will be Lucille Lauer, sophomore, as Camille Van Gorder, a spinster, and Dean Smith, senior, as Detective Anderson. Dale Ogden, a young girl, will be portrayed by Ann Peters, freshman, while Philip Mueller, sophomore, will play the doctor.

Bolester Plays Breaks
Other players taking part are Ed W. Bolester, sophomore, Bolester, Fred Moberg, sophomore, Billy, the Japanese servant; Dorothy Blighon, freshman, Lizzy Ray, senior, and Dean Smith, senior, as Detective Anderson. Dale Ogden, a young girl, will be portrayed by Ann Peters, freshman, while Philip Mueller, sophomore, will play the doctor.

Directing the play will be Raymond D. Waldmann, of the coach department, assisted by Harold Winkler, junior. Waldmann has also designed the scenery, with much of the work being done by the play production class.

Hartman Makes Costumes

Other committees working on "The Bat" are headed by Grace Hartman, costumes; Junior Freese, make-up; Marshall Becker, stage crew; Helen Hiltzberger, publicity; Marilyn Mueller, proprietor; Phyllis Volmer, programs; Darrell Gray, house arrangements; Bob Solt, tickets; Elmer Boie, lighting; and Henry Schmidt, sound effects.

On the evening of May 3 the play will be presented to visiting high school seniors as guests of Wartburg Players.

Faculty Services Going On Block At School Party

Tonight's the night to buy the services of the faculty at the in-ter-vening party in the Knights gymnasium at 8 p.m. A wide variety of services are being made available to the faculty, and to add to the fun and the ease of paying is 1000 Ingeringing.

If it's food you want, the Her-letta and Norheim are offering to entertain couples for a dinner or some Sunday noon. Also in this category is a pan or two (depending on how much you bid, says) of Graham cracker chocolate fudge from Miss Margaret Wurt, two cakes and two pies from Hazel May Snyder, and a pie from Lisa Penza Loh.

Prizes To Campus.
Lured under the name "novelty prizes" can be included a highly original letter from Dr. G. J. Neumann, a penny fine for every step he takes in class from Dr. Gerhard Osterberg and one hundred of children in a gym class, by Melvin Nolte. Then, too, there is a "novelty" prize that will be given by Miss Helene Becker.

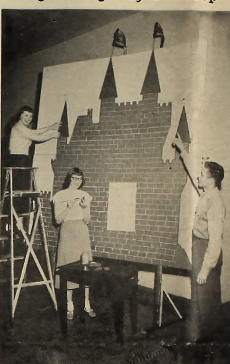

Services are also in abundance. Dr. Martin Wiedenmeyer will give a free physical exam, a free hair cut and, possibly, trim hair for the person who buys his contribution. Miss Ellen Miller will give three beginners violin lessons. Miss Stella Auerbach will darn socks. The student of the Opera- man will wash a car, Miss Adele Langrock will give three tennis lessons and the student of the Rev. Dean Kilgus will clean a room in the girls' dorm.

Becker Offers Car.
The best is yet to come, though. Dr. H. Becker offers the use of one of his Pontiacs for one evening. Miss Anna Rita Jacob will give a car. Elmer Becker, Fortia, and the Schicks offer to entertain two couples for a Sunday evening.

These are only a few of the services for sale in the little Theater, and besides this, several students will be on hand to entertain. The Knights quartet will sing several numbers. Harold Weins will present a musical number. The Knights will impersonate, Ruth Keeling will tap dance and Howard Hiltzberger will play the piano.

Special announcement by the committee declares that faculty members as well as students can bid for these services.

Ingering Way Over Top

Norm Finlet, junior, and two of his assistants in the 1950 student Ingering drive. Vera Rademacher and Lenore Langrock, freshmen, proudly point to the fact that Wartburg students have gone far over their goal in the spring student body drive. At last report, 422 students had pledged a total of $5,621.

First Class Rating Awarded Trumpet In ACP Criticism

First class or "excellent" is the rating that the TRUMPET received from the Associated College Press for the first semester of this school year.

Competing with weekly papers in college in the 500-page enrollment, the TRUMPET received a score of 900 points on many items judged. This was 25 points short of the All-American rating which was received by the TRUMPET for the two previous years, under the leadership of Omar Bonders, senior.

The paper ranked high in the first class division, however, first papers with a score of from 800-925 received this rating. None of the points judged in the TRUMPET received less than a "very good" score, while a large number of departments received the score of "excellent."

News writing and editing received the highest scores in the survey, with content, organization, style, layout, copyediting and proofreading all receiving ratings of excellent. Of the department of news and special features, editorial column and coverage and statement of the sports page received the highest possible number of points.

Peterson From Coe Speaker At Banquet

Dr. Ben Peterson, head of the chemistry department at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, will be the main speaker at the Science club program chairman, Dr. C. H. Becker, in the dining hall.

Subject of the address will be "Science and the Future of Life." Peterson will be introduced by Ivan Kresen, senior and club program chairman. Tickets are now on sale and can be obtained from Marlene Michels, sophomore and ticket chairman.

King Dies In Crash

Robert King, Wartburg sophomore, was killed instantly today in a crash in a car-truck collision. King was traveling to DEWITT to see his mother-in-law. The car was a 1948 Buick. Besides the widow and infant son, three children, a daughter, survive.

Prof Attends Meet

Dr. Martin Wiedenmeyer, head of the education department here, attended the Iowa Institutional Teacher Placement association conference last Friday at Iowa State college, Ames.

Idealism Begins Here

Many persons are extremely critical and idealistic about what goes on in other groups and among other people, and yet use fundamentally the same tactics in their own lives. Paradoxes like this are common in all walks of life, and the college campus seems to be no exception.

Indeed, perhaps we who are attending college are most susceptible to this popular attitude. We like to be idealistic, we like to look out upon the world about us and observe, criticize and offer suggestions. We are quick to see what is wrong with the nation's politics, the nation's economy and the nation's religious spirit. We are quick to see in the world about us the fallacies of tangled foreign relations, autocracy, hypocrisy and insincerity that make this world such a troubled place in which to live.

But too often we fail to realize that as these practices against which we rail are all to often practiced by ourselves. We criticize loose morals, impure and impure speech; yet often we can rationalize their acceptance into our own lives. We are indignant over attempts by business firms to cheat and falsify for money; yet we, in a pinch, will use "cribs" or a wandering eye to make up for a lack of study.

We criticize prominent persons who are able to hide from the letter of the law due to connections with "insiders"; yet we all secretly hope that should we get into trouble while at college, our good name and our good friends will tide us over. We chaff and scorn because many government jobs are obtained not on the basis of merit but "pull"; yet the college student perhaps the first to realize that sometimes "it is not what you know, but who you know" that determines the breaks.

Paradoxes such as these are not unusual in everyday life nor are they unusual in college life. Young idealism too often becomes so engrossed in the world about it that it loses sight of the real foundation stone of humanity—the individual life.

Danger To Democracy?

A recent poll of southern voters has shown that one-fifth of this electorate will vote for the Eight Democrats, the splinter group of the regular Democratic party, but up to a presidential election. Can we take this to mean that these people, in the light of their party's opposition to civil rights measures, are bigoted, reactionary, and intent only upon maintaining white racial supremacy?

Some are certainly motivated by these reasons, but perhaps many more sense a danger to our present democratic state system in the increasing centralization of our government, and this party is their instrument of protest. They like the words of the Constitution literally, which declare that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Southerners are more sensitive to the inroads being made upon the rights of the states, for they still have memories of a war they fought for just such a cause. Current proposed federal legislation, such as the E.P.C.C. and other civil rights proposals, is, they feel, a definite attempt at usurpation of powers rightfully belonging to the states. Prominent southerners, while and negro alike, agree that such laws would retard the development of the negro into a full-fledged citizen, and they might stop the slow melting-away of discrimination in the south.

Yet this insistence upon the sanctity of states' rights does not apply only to the south, for the system is in jeopardy in all parts of the country.

The United States has become strong because it consists of a union of states—those smaller units of government which, while preserving a limited degree of sovereignty, give the federal government greater opportunity to have a voice in his state's and nation's affairs than would be possible in a completely centralized structure. In the laboratories of a free people, in which programs with national significance can first be tested on a smaller scale.

From Our Readers

Dear Editor:

One month before the student body presidential election, at a student body meeting, the students were informed why it was impossible to present the candidates in person. We couldn't present them to the student body at a convocation because the type of convocation that day would not be mixed with campaign speeches.

The next best thing which we felt that we could do was to have an election pamphlet made up for the students. At the time publicity, at least to our knowledge, objected to this method of election. If the student body was dissatisfied with the system and had expressed their Student Senators about it, we are sure that something could and would have been done.

The absentee ballots which were sent, first of all, did not make a difference in the outcome of the election. Secondly, there is nothing in the constitution which says you cannot cast an absentee ballot. Thirdly, those who cast the absentee ballots asked the election chairman if they could place their ballots in a sealed envelope, since they could not be at the election day. We agree that the student body should know about absentee ballots, but the problem never came up until now. If these absentee ballots had made a difference in the election, we think it would have been worthwhile to question their feasibility, and we are sure that next year something will be provided for absentee ballots.

Student Senate

Dear Editor:

Friday evening was the witnessing of one of the most dazzling and colorful events in the history of a new and greater Wartburg; namely, the wonderful and inspiring secular concert of the Castle Singers.

No longer can it be said, "They are the second Choir," because the high ideals of music lovers were dimmed. In a season's concert, second to none. We can truthfully say a new and sensational addition has woven its way into the heart and soul of many of the Wartburg family.

Ray Meier, senior.

Even we college students sometimes fall into that hateful habit of making a stereotype of the American college student. We set up a few arbitrary rules for college life, with out a composite of types and speak of the "average college student"—Joe College.

First of all—and most numerous—we find Joe-in-love College. He really comes in three varieties—Joe-Bucks-to-the-bucks, Joe-hopes-he's-in-love and Joe-knows he's-in-love. The first Joe thinks he's-in-love. It is easiest to get—he changes partners most often. This Joe has a hard time of getting into the Den, because he usually comes to rather closely affected to the girls of the Den, and Den doesn't want quite that type.

The second and more noble type, Joe-see-he's-in-love, enters like a gentleman—comes first and he follows carrying both sets of books. They go to a table, where he helps to seat her; then, with that "When will you love me? Yes?" look, he takes her order. He comes back with two lemon Colas—just his favorite. They talk about everything except love.

Most inconspicuous is Joe-knows-he's-in-love. She comes at 2:30 P.M., buys a lime pop, and goes to a table. Joe's computer in 15 minutes later gets a cherry root beer and joins her. They gossip a little, then sit and stare into space.

Second stereotype is Political Joe. He comes in with three or four buddies, buys a round of colas and joins the others for a half-hour session. All heads meet at the center of the table, and the parties leave as unaccountable.

Third general type is Gelling Joe; nearly every college man falls into this category at least ten times a week. This Joe, the Den, grips about the service and the prices, buys something and sits down as a regular on the day's trials—his 10 minutes of reprieve.

Then we come to Friendly Joe; he comes in just as an excuse to "meet the boys" or "see the girls." Once in a while he buys something.

Last—and least—comes Joe-the-Scholar. He comes in half an hour before class and settles down in a corner with a cup of coffee and books for his next class. He studies and is completely unpopular.

Beavers Hand Wartburg Loss

By Adam McElhager

Baseball-minded Buena Vista handed Wartburg its third straight setback here yesterday, 6-1, behind the five-hit twirling of righthander Jerry Speck.

The Beavers from Storm Lake climbed on Knight starter Tom Olson for three runs in the opening inning to send him to the showers. A base knock, an error by Olson, a double steal, another single and a wild pitch sent in three runs and sent the freshman hurler from Strawberry Point out of the game.

Price Does Relief

Don Price, the boy with the screwy side-arm delivery, took over and did an admirable job of relief hurling. Price went the rest of the route, allowing three runs on seven hits, walking only one man and striking out 15 SV batters.

Speck, Beaver pitcher, went the entire distance, walking 12 batters and holding the Knights hitless after the third inning.

Wartburg's lone run came in the second stanza. Bob Roese led off with a single and took second when the third baseman, sliding, erred on Bob Lehmann's grounder. Dick Tillen walked and Stan Wingers advanced to score Roese.

Leave Men Stranded

Wartburg failed to cash in when it had runners on base. The Knights left ten men stranded on the bases, going down with the sacks jammed in the second and third innings.

The Knights tackle Westmar this afternoon on the home diamond and have four games slated for next week. On Monday the Black and Orange will play LaVerne, a game that was originally scheduled for this week but which the weathermen would not allow to be played. One college will be here on Senior day, Thursday the Knights go to Fayette to battle with Upper Iowa's Panthers and on Saturday they travel to Cedar Rapids for a return game with Coe.

Tom Olson Named Athlete-Of-Week For Pitching Job

By Fred Mohrer

Tom Olson, freshman from Strawberry Point, was named Athlete-of-the-Week by the "W" club committee for his excellent performance on the hill against the non-conference nine from Winona college.

In the first half of the fifth inning, Tom made his first appearance on the mound for Wartburg. The 6-foot-1-inch crew-cut hurler allowed only two hits during his three-inning stay in the pitcher's box.

First Base-Runner Chosen. "Little Ole" Olson received more than the honor of being named Athlete-of-the-Week. He also received the distinction of being the first athlete in the history of Wartburg to be chosen for the honor because of a performance in a baseball game. No person was given the honor last year during the baseball season.

It came to Wartburg because my big brother, Paul, exerted his influence on me," confessed Tom, when questioned about the reason for his choice of colleges. "But I am glad I came" added the pre-professional student.

From "The Point" Tom was graduated from Strawberry Point high school, where he participated and lettered in baseball and basketball. While in high school, he sang tenor with a mixed quartet and appeared on the stage in the junior and senior class plays.

This 19-year-old Knight is interested in fishing and model building. However, he stated that he has had no time during the last year to do much on either of his hobbies. It seems that physics and mathematics require too much time.

Uhrich Takes Titles In 2 Intramurals

Bill Uhrich, junior, handily won both the nine-pont and the badminton tournaments in men's intramurals Thursday evening in the Knights gymnasium.

In the nine-pont final Uhrich took two games out of two and downed Erv Dehmeler, sophomore, who won the physical education classes tournament. Bill repeated as champ when badminton finals came around as he downed Carl Weidner, freshman, 15-4 and 15-0.

Bob Herder, junior, gave Uhrich his hardest battle in nine-pont, pushing the count to 17-14 and taking second place in the non-play-off final round.

Uhrich, who earned a letter in tennis at Wartburg in 1948, is student coach of the 1950 Knight tennis team. Transferring back to his campus only this semester, he is ineligible for tennis this spring.

Late LaCrosse Teachers Rally Hands Knights Close Loss, 10-9

By Adam McElhager

LaCrosse Teachers pushed over two runs in the ninth inning to turn back the Wartburg Knights 10-9 here last Saturday.

Wartburg got off to a fast start, scoring twice in each of the first two innings and once more in the third to give starter Merle Meyer a lead to work on.

Warriors Come Back

However, the Warriors from Wisconsin came back to score three times in the third and fourth stanzas and twice in the fifth, aided by a few costly Wartburg errors, to nibble an 8-3 lead. Knights were held scoreless until the eighth, when they counted four times. Bob Roese and Bob Lehmann led off with walks, and Dick Tillen got his second hit of the day to lead the chase. Paul Lechner batted for Tom Olson, who had relieved Meyer in the troublesome fourth, and walked to force in Roese.

Wingers Signs Hit

Stan Wingers then got his fourth

hit in five trips to send in Lehmann. Paul Bruns slashed a drive at the pitcher, who overthrew first, sending Wingers and Lehmann in and allowing Bruns to go all the way to third.

Dirrel Sowers relieved Olson in the ninth and was charged with the loss as he was tagged for the deciding run on a walk and three hits.

Castle Singers Reveal There's No Second Choir

By Chuck Lutz

Wartburg's Castle Singers last night proved to be a Little Theater capacity crowd of 600 that they are no longer to be thought of as a "second choir" on the campus. With Dr. E. Arnt Hovdeisen directing, this group in a single concert established a reputation for itself that puts it on a par with other campus music organizations.

Castle Singers succeeded in giving Wartburg music-lovers something which has long been asked for—a program made up entirely of good secular music.

Immediately after filing on stage the singers invited the audience to give over with "Let My Song Fill Your Heart" by Charles Brown. The familiar waltz "Vienna, My City of Dreams" by Siegmund followed and featured Miss Hovdeisen's soprano voice. Lucille Lundie sang the soprano solo in "L'Amour-Trouble-L'Amour" by Bruni to complete the choir's portion of group.

Duet Is High Spot.

Undoubtedly the high spot of the concert was the soprano-tenor duet from Verdi's opera, "Rigoletto"—"Ella, Mio Dile!" Anims! Lutz Stolz teamed with Donald Miller, of the voice department, to mix in some of the classical very persuasively. Applause broke forth before the accompaniment was ended and the audience was convinced that truly great music can be understood and appreciated even if in an unfamiliar language.

Highly stylized followed the old-world mood as the Kentucky melody, "Sawwood Mountain" began group two. Miss Stolz soloed in "If My Song Had Wings" by Hahn. Eleanor Schuelter and Ronald Olson fitted their voices into the rhythm of the spiritual "Set Down, Servant" to conclude the section.

End Too Soon.

Four novelty numbers comprised the third and last group which brought the concert to a close. Dr. Hovdeisen was at the organ for his own arrangement of "Jingle Bells" by Le-cuna. The choir's excellent diction was obvious in the rapid "Pavane," a Russian folk-melody, which got one of the most enthusiastic hands of the evening.

Lighting effects by Bob Snyder nicely set off the showy group, which was fully attired in tuxedos and formal. Miss Wilma Schell of the music department and Herri Rinnmann at the piano and Bertha Miller at the organ accompanied the choir.

Following the concert a reception was held for the Castle Singers in the Wartburg ball lounge.

Frosh-Soph Picnic Planned For Friday

Annual frosh-soph picnic will be held again this year on Friday evening, May 5, according to word from officers of these two classes. The picnic will be the same evening as the junior-senior banquet.

Picnic will begin at 4 p.m., with a softball game between the freshman and sophomore classes held at the newly field. In addition, volleyball will be provided for those who do not care to play softball.

Picnic supper will be served at 6 p.m. with a scavenger hunt scheduled to fill the time between 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Following this, a buffet with group singing and class talks, will conclude the evening's entertainment.

Journalists Travel To Regional Papers

High school publications and reporting classes traveled to Wartburg and Cedar Falls on a field trip last Wednesday afternoon under the supervision of Miss Margaret Wolf of the Journalism department.

Vets Must Begin Studies This Year For GI Bill Aid

Veterans wishing to take advantage of the GI bill of rights education provisions must begin the courses of education or training before the completion of four years after the date of discharge, or by July 28, 1951, whichever is later, according to an announcement this week by Mrs. Marion Fuschling, veterans' counselor here.

This regulation applies to all courses of education or training pursued by veterans on or after July 28, 1951, under the Service-men's Readjustment act, as amended. Such education or training cannot be extended beyond July 28, 1956, except for those veterans who enlisted under the Voluntary Recruitment act of Oct. 4, 1945.

Therefore, a veteran otherwise eligible must have begun and actually be pursuing his course of education or training on July 28, 1951, or the date four years after discharge, except where his attendance is interrupted because of the normal interruptions for summer vacations, other reasons beyond the control of the veteran.

A course of education, the announcement explained, shall consist of such curriculum, program of study or training, or combination of subjects as are prescribed by the institution as constituting the course.

2 Grade Teachers Accept Contracts

Elementary teachers, two of them, were the only ones to enter the "job-a-leek-down" class of graduates during the past week.

Those having accepted positions this week were Lois Hundley, who will teach sixth grade at Monona, and Lucille Lundie, who will teach second grade at Waverly.

Tomorrow Is Date For Student Recital

Tomorrow at 4 p.m. in the Little Theater, four students will present the latest in the spring series of music recitals. Participating Sunday will be David Heidtke, senior, and Paul Schiffer, sophomore, pianists; Lois Stolz, sophomore, soprano, and Jean Winnie, sophomore, contralto.

The program will be varied, featuring both classical and semi-classical selections. The participants are students of Donald Miller, voice instructor, and Miss Wilma Schell, piano instructor. Accompanying for Miss Stolz and Miss Winnie will be Ruth Hest and Marjory Gross, both freshmen.

Class To Buy File

Seniors chose to buy a new card index file for the library as their class project at an election held this week in Luther hall.

Previous choice was a new curtain for the Little Theater, but this was changed because the Little Theater is only a temporary building.

Ashram Discussion On LSA Program

Discussion of the regional Ashram, to be held May 5, 6 and 7 at the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. camp at Boone, will be on the agenda at the meeting of the Lutheran Student Association tomorrow at 6 p.m. in Old Main.

Cost of registration, which must be filed before Monday, May 1, will be $4.50. Further information about the Ashram may be obtained from Harold Meyer, senior and president of L.S.A., or Anna Dietz, freshman. Featured speaker at the Ashram will be Dr. Rasmussen, director of evangelism of the National Lutheran council.

Main portion of the L.S.A. meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the displaced persons problem. All Wartburg students interested in the subject are urged to attend.

Liemohn In Listing

Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the music department at Wartburg and director of the Wartburg choir, will be listed in the next issue of "Who Is Who in Music."
